International Transfers

The Company may from time to time transfer personal data to countries outside of the European Economic Area (EEA). The transfer of personal data to a country outside of the EEA shall take place only if one or more of the following applies:

- The transfer is to a country, territory, or one or more specific sectors in that country (or an international organisation), that the European Commission has determined ensures an adequate level of protection for personal data.

- The transfer is to a country (or international organisation) which provides appropriate safeguards in the form of a legally binding agreement between public authorities or bodies; binding corporate rules; standard data protection clauses adopted by the European Commission; compliance with an approved code of conduct approved by a supervisory authority (e.g., the Information Commissioner's Office); certification under an approved certification mechanism (as provided for in the GDPR); contractual clauses agreed and authorised by the competent supervisory authority; or provisions inserted into administrative arrangements between public authorities or bodies authorised by the competent supervisory authority;
- The transfer is made with the informed consent of the relevant data subject(s).
- The transfer is necessary for the performance of a contract between the data subject and the Company (or for pre-contractual steps taken at the request of the data subject).
- The transfer is necessary for important public interest reasons; The transfer is necessary for the conduct of legal claims.
- The transfer is necessary to protect the vital interests of the data subject or other individuals where the data subject is physically or legally unable to give their consent; or
- The transfer is made from a register that, under UK or EU law, is intended to provide information to the public and which is open for access by the public in general or otherwise to those who can show a legitimate interest in accessing the register.

Data Security

The company aim to maintain a high standard of security and privacy when it comes to protecting our customers personal information. We want to give our customers confidence in our processes and have robust measures in place to ensure we protect your information from any loss, unauthorised access, or misuse. We constantly review our data security processes to ensure they remain fit for purpose.

We also limit access to customers personal data to those colleagues, agents, third- parties or contractors who absolutely need to have access.

All personal data breaches must be reported immediately to the Company's DPO. We have an appropriate procedure in place to deal with any data breaches and will notify the persons affected and any regulator which legally require us to report the breach.

Data Retention

The company shall not keep personal data for any longer than is necessary considering the purpose or purposes for which that personal data was originally collected, held, and processed. We have to keep some specific information about our customers by law, where this is the case, we will keep securely and hold solely for the legal purpose required.

When personal data is no longer required, all reasonable steps will be taken to erase or otherwise dispose of securely without delay. For full details of the company's approach to data retention, including retention periods for specific personal data types held by the company, please refer to our Data Retention Policy which you can request by contacting us.

For the purpose of future claims activities we will collect data provided from the data subject access report. This data will be stored for future financial claims activities, until a time the data is no longer required.

Data Protection Rights

Under UK data protection law, you have several rights in relation to your personal data and the processing of it, including:

- Right of Access - entitles you to request a copy of all the information we hold about you, commonly referred to as a 'Data Subject Access Request (DSAR)'
- Right to be Informed - entitles you to request to be provided with details of how we collect and process your personal data, which is covered by this Privacy Notice
- Right to Rectification - entitles you to have inaccurate personal data rectified, or completed if it is incomplete
- Right of Erasure (to be forgotten) - entitles you to request for the deletion/removal of your personal data where there is no reason for its continued processing
- Right to Restrict Processing - entitles you to request no further processing of your personal data that we have collected previously in certain circumstances.
- Right to Object - entitles you to request that your personal data is not processed in certain circumstances for example for marketing purposes or to challenge the basis of the processing of your data
- Right to data portability - you have a right to request for your personal data we hold on to you to be sent to another Data Controller for their own purposes
- Right to withdraw consent - you have the right to withdraw consent at any time.

However, this will not have affected our legal ability to do this before you withdraw your consent, and if you do withdraw consent to process your personal data, we may not be able to offer you certain services.

Should you wish to exercise your rights please contact us, there could be occasions when we aren't able to complete your request, however we will inform you of this and the reasoning.

There is no fee when requesting a copy of your personal data, although there may be occasions where we charge a reasonable amount should we find your request recurring or unwarranted or if you require further copies of such information that we have previously provided.

To process any of your requests we may need to confirm your identity through a process of security checks.

We aim to respond to all relevant requests as soon as possible and usually within one month of receiving. Sometimes it may however take us longer to process, but we will always keep you informed if this is the case.
